

Mandatory listing of establishments exporting honey, and clarifications on animal products

Published by AGRINFO on 26 Apr 2023; Revised 17 Dec 2024

Commission Delegated Regulation (EU) 2023/2652 amending and correcting Delegated Regulation (EU) 2022/2292 with regard to requirements for the entry into the Union of honey, meat, highly refined products, gelatine capsules, fishery products and requirements for private attestation and amending Delegated Regulation (EU) 2021/630 as regards private attestation requirements for composite products exempted from official controls at border control posts

What is changing and why?

Honey and apiculture products

A high percentage of honey and other apiculture products imported into the EU is adulterated. The EU is therefore intensifying official controls on these products. This new Regulation introduced the obligation for non-EU competent authorities to list all the establishments in their country that export honey and apiculture products to the European Commission. Regulation 2022/2292 also defines more clearly which honey and apiculture products are subject to these new requirements.

Fishery products and other products of animal origin

The new Regulation also clarifies certification requirements for the following products of animal origin: fishery products, live food-producing animals, meat, highly refined products, gelatine capsules, and composite products (for details see the full report).

Timeline

Date of application: 18 December 2023; 29 November 2024 for the obligation to export only honey that is from listed establishments to the EU.

For more information see the full record on the AGRINFO website – where you can also view the latest AGRINFO Update newsletters and search the database.

Disclaimer: Under no circumstances shall COLEAD be liable for any loss, damage, liability or expense incurred or suffered that is claimed to have resulted from the use of information available on this website or any link to external sites. The use of the website is at the user's sole risk and responsibility. This information platform was created and maintained with the financial support of the European Union. Its contents do not, however, reflect the views of the European Union.