

Organic products: Lists of high-risk countries and products

Published by AGRINFO on 04 Aug 2025; Revised 12 Jan 2026

Regulation (EU) 2025/2651 as regards certain criteria for the establishment of the list of high-risk third countries and high-risk products

What is changing and why?

The European Union (EU) is establishing a list of organic products where there is a high risk of non-compliance with EU organic rules, and the countries in which they are produced. These products are subject to more frequent controls (identity and physical checks) by control authorities/control bodies.

The criteria for high-risk listing were previously based on established (proven) cases of non-compliance. However, in many cases, although there is a high level of suspicion of non-compliance, it is difficult for control bodies to prove. In this Regulation, the European Commission allows products where there is suspected non-compliance to be placed on the high-risk products list.

Actions

Non-EU countries should strengthen preventive controls, traceability, and investigation of suspected organic non-compliances, as the threshold for increasing import controls has been lowered.

Timeline

This Regulation applies from 26 December 2025. The European Commission is expected to publish the list of high-risk products in the first quarter of 2026.

For more information see the full record on the AGRINFO website – where you can also view the latest AGRINFO Update newsletters and search the database.

Disclaimer: Under no circumstances shall COLEAD be liable for any loss, damage, liability or expense incurred or suffered that is claimed to have resulted from the use of information available on this website or any link to external sites. The use of the website is at the user's sole risk and responsibility. This information platform was created and maintained with the financial support of the European Union. Its contents do not, however, reflect the views of the European Union.

THE LATEST ON EU AGRI-FOOD POLICIES IMPACTING LOW-INCOME & MIDDLE-INCOME COUNTRIES